

PURATATTVA NO. 1 (1967-68)

CONTENTS

Editor's Note

Page

(vii)

ARTICLES

Archaeology and the Ramayana or Dating the Ramayana

1

H.D. Sankalia, Deccan College, Poona

Sankalia reviews urbanization in the Ganga valley and North-West India, correlates them with the Ramayana and places their chronology between 1000 and 600 BC

Inter-relations between Archaeology and Plant Sciences

4

Vishnu-Mittre, Birbal Sahni Institute of Palaeobotany, Lucknow

Vishnu Mittre looks into dating mechanism, environmental archaeology, and palaeontology in relation to archaeology and recommends a closer collaboration

A Further Note on the Direction of Writing in the Harappan Script

15

B.B. Lal, Archaeological Survey of India, New Delhi

B.B. Lal suggests the direction of writing in the Harappan script from right to left based on the interrelationship of the second and third symbols

Protohistoric Chronology and Technological and Ecological Factors : A Synthesis

17

D.P. Agrawal, Tata Institute of Fundamental Research, Bombay

Agrawal strives to integrate technological, archaeological and ecological evidence in the context of the first and second urbanizations

The Changing Face of Archaeological Studies

24

K.V. Soundara Rajan, Archaeological Survey of India, Madras

Soundara Rajan highlights the enigmas of prehistoric research in India in relation to habitational, and behavioural patterns and recommends a systematic methodology

Burial Practices in the Neolithic Cultures of South India

31

Purushottam Singh, College of Indology, Banaras Hindu University

Singh unveils the characteristic features of Neolithic South India to highlight its interaction with Deccan

A New Painted Pottery from Vidarbha

36

S.B. Deo, Nagpur University

Deo brings out the fabric of the painted ware and BRW from Paunar, which shows the colonization of Vidarbha by Chalcolithic farmers

The Use of terms 'Prehistory' and 'Protohistory' in Indian Archaeology

39

K.K. Sinha, College of Indology, Banaras Hindu University

Sinha reviews the prehistoric and protohistoric terminologies in Indian archaeology and proposes modifications in the light of new discoveries

A Note on the Chemical Composition of Some Glass Beads from Rajghat, Varanasi H.C. Bhardwaj, College of Indology, Banaras Hindu University	42
Bhardwaj analyses the chemical composition of beads unearthed from Rajghat
A Relationship between the Chalcolithic Culture of India and the Chust Culture of the Farghana Valley, U.S.S.R. S.P. Gupta, National Museum, New Delhi	47
Gupta discusses the origin and extra territorial contact of Chalcolithic Malwa and Deccan and makes a comparative study with the Chust culture
Alamgirpur and the Iron Age in India O.P. Tandon, College of Indology, Banaras Hindu University	54
Tandon examines issues related with introduction of iron and first urbanization in Ganga valley, in the light of recent archaeological evidence from Alamgirpur
Typology in Prehistory P.C. Pant, College of Indology, Banaras Hindu University	61
Pant stresses the need for typological assessments in prehistory in conjunction with stratigraphy, shape, technique of manufacture, measurements and statistics of tools
Patapadu Revisited: A New Painted Pottery Culture of South-East India I. Karthikeya Sarma, Archaeological Survey of India, Nagpur	68
Sarma argues the existence of a Chalcolithic phase in South India from the evidence of painted pottery sites from Patapadu
Miscellanea
Sankhu Buddha Balram Srivastava, College of Indology, Banaras Hindu University	85
Two Early Stone Age Sites on River Son in District Bilaspur, M.P. Nisar Ahmad, College of Indology, Banaras Hindu University	87
A Clay Tablet in Lucknow Museum: An Artistic and Religious study Kiran Kumar Thaplyal, University of Lucknow	90
An Episode from Ramayana on a Terracotta Panel Surendra Kumar Srivastava, Bharat Kala Bhavan, Banaras Hindu University	93
A Prehistoric Bronze Anthropomorph in the Patna Museum and its Identification Prithvi Kumar Agrawala, College of Indology, Banaras Hindu University	96
The Tribal Deity of the Vishanins Deenabandhu Pandey, College of Indology, Banaras Hindu University	99
A Microlithic Site from Shahabad District (Bihar) Bhupendra Pal Singh, College of Indology, Banaras Hindu University	100

Reviews

Vidya Prakash, Khajuraho- A Study in the Cultural Conditions of Chandella Society A.K. Narain	104
Avasthi, Khajuraho Ki Deva Pratimayen (Hindi) Vidya Prakash	105
Rosenfield et al. , The Arts of India and Nepal: The Nasli and Alice Heeramaneek Collection (An illustrated catalogue) Vidya Prakash	106
Gupta, The Iconography of the Buddhist Sculptures (Caves) of Ellora Vidya Prakash	107
Dani, Indian Palaeography A.K. Narain	108
Dani, Shaikhan Dheri Excavation A.K. Narain	109
Banerjea, Religion in Art and Archaeology A.K. Narain	110
Rosenfield, The Dynastic Arts of the Kushans A.K. Narain	111